Foreword

Firstly, a big thank you for signing up to receive the Lay the Favourite betting system.

The system involves a straightforward set of rules to run through, and with a little practise should take no more than 15 - 20 minutes to find a day's bets.

Lay the Favourite has produced substantial profits since 2012, and has been proven through independent trials by trusted websites including More Money Review and Geegeez.

I'm sure it will prove to be a great addition to your betting portfolio, just as it has been to my own.

System Overview

This system focuses on UK racing, and as the name suggests we will be lay betting i.e. betting on horses that we think are going to lose. The main aim is to produce a high strike rate from our bets in order to secure steady and consistent profits.

Lay the Favourite was created in 2012, and since then we have seen the following results:

Bets: 1090 Wins: 813

74.59% Strike Rate

Longest winning run: 20 Longest losing run: 4

Starting with a £500 bankroll, and using our advised staking method, the system has produced a £4,286.55 profit to date.

This equates to an average profit of £1,428.85 per year.

While profit levels will be small at the outset when our bankroll is small, as it grows over time we are able to compound and increase our stakes, allowing much greater earnings over the long term.

System Rules

As with any horse racing system, we have a set of rules to follow in order to find our selections.

I've listed the system rules below, and then in the following pages will go into more detail on the reasoning behind these rules, and how to apply them:

- 1. There are 8 or more declared runners in the race
- 2. Our horse is a drifter with decimal odds of 5.0 or less
- 3. Our horse ran poorly in its last race
- 4. The going is different to our horse's last good run
- 5. Race distance has changed since last good run

Now i'll show you the easiest order and how to apply these rules. Firstly, we'll need to load up two websites, which are:

Betfair Exchange - http://betfair.com/exchange

This is the best starting point for us, as we can run through each of the day's races by going to the 'Horse Racing' tab, then clicking on 'Horse Racing - Today's Card' on the left drop-down menu.

Racing Post - http://racingpost.com/cards

This is where we will get the more specific information needed that isn't available on Betfair.

Rule 1. There are 8 or more declared runners in the race

Declared runners means the amount of horses running in a race, before any withdrawals.

This rule can be applied simply by going through each UK race that day on Betfair, and counting the number of horses including non-runners.

Alternatively, this can also be viewed in the Racing Post card:

Rule 2. Our horse is a drifter with decimal odds of 5.0 or less

We are focusing on the top end of the market, with lower odds horses to ensure we aren't risking too much of our bankroll for too small a payout. The higher the odds are, the more we have to risk to earn a substantial return.

The 'drifter' aspect has to do with market confidence. What we are looking for are horses with low market confidence, where the odds available are becoming higher as the day goes on. I'll explain fully how to find this on the next page.

Since no horses in the 1.15 Fontwell race passes both aspects of this rule, we simply run through the day's races until we find a qualifier:

We identify this horse as a drifter by clicking on the graph icon to the left of the horse's name (circled above). This loads up a graph of it's market activity:

Focusing solely on the graph, we are looking for an upward trend - the steadier the better. If you run a straight line through the start and end points of the graph (the black line above is an example), it should slope upwards from left to right.

TIP: Try not to get too caught up in accuracy here or you're likely to rule out too many horses, and therefore have a low number of qualifying bets. Many people interpret the graph slightly differently, so as long as there is at least a basic upward trend, that will suffice.

In the above example, Intrigue has both odds under 5.0 and is identified as a drifter, so it passes this rule.

Rule 3. Our horse ran poorly in its last race

It's important that our horse is not currently in top form, so that it's less likely to run well. This rule may seem vague at first glance, so let's get to the specifics.

Looking at our horse's last race, we need a finish more than ½ a length behind the winner for each 1 furlong the race is long. For example, Intrigue last ran at a distance of 8 furlongs, so we require it to have finished 4 lengths or more behind the winner.

Go to the Racing Post post card, and click on the relevant horse. This will bring up a pop-up window like the one below, which shows a list of our horse's last previous races in the 'form' tab.

We can now see our horse's last race, and in the highlighted area we are shown firstly it's position, followed in brackets by the finishing distance behind the winner.

As we can see, our horse came third from seven runners and finished 12 lengths behind the winner. This is classed as a poor run, so Intrigue has passed this rule.

Rule 4. The going is different to our horse's last good run

The vast majority of horses run better or worse depending on the ground conditions, and many have a specific going which they perform best on. To ensure our horse doesn't perform to the best of it's ability, we want it to be running on ground different to that it's ran well on previously.

The different categories of going and their abbreviations are listed below:

Turf Firm (Fm) Good to Firm (GF) Good (Gd) Good to Soft (GS) Soft (Sft) Heavy (Hy)

All Weather Standard (St) Fast (Fst) Slow (Slw)

To pass this rule, our horse must be running on a different type of going to it's last good run.

For example if our current race is on good ground, our horse's last good run can have been on anything other than good ground. Another situation where our horse can pass this rule, is if it hasn't previously ran what we would define as a good race.

On the Racing Post card, we firstly find the going for the current race:

The going is displayed in abbreviation form, in the highlighted area after the race distance.

The going has changed from good last time out, to standard. We can also see that Intrigue hasn't ran what we would call a 'good race' previously, so it passes this rule.

Rule 5. Race distance has changed since last good run

The logic behind this rule is simple - we want our horse to be running at a different distance to that which it last ran well at.

For us, we're looking for a distance change of 2 furlongs or more in order for our horse to pass this rule. Like with rule 4, if our horse has not ran a good race previously it also qualifies.

To find the current race distance we can simply look back at the previous racing card screenshot, the distance being shown to the left of the highlighted going. To find the distance of the horse's last good run, we would look at the last screenshot where the race distance is shown before the going in the highlighted area.

Since we already know that Intrigue hasn't previously ran a good race, it has qualified the final rule and is therefore a system bet.

Placing your Bets

Now all we need to do is find our stake, and place our bet. Go back to the relevant race on Betfair, making sure the 'win' market is highlighted in the drop-down menu to the left.

There are two recommended staking methods to use with this system:

6% liability - This method is designed to be used when betting at Betfair start price. Liability simply means the amount we are risking per bet. To find our liability, simply multiply our bankroll by 0.06. For example with a  $\pm 1000$  bankroll -

Stake =  $\pounds1000 \times 0.06 = \pounds60$

Click the pink 'SP' button next to our horse, then tick the 'set SP odds limit' option on the right hand side above the stake box. This will allow us to set the maximum odds we are willing to take, which is 5.0 (as part of rule 2).

Please note that with this staking method, we will occasionally miss bets if our horse drifts over the 5.0 odds limit before race start time. This has little effect on the overall profit levels - these missed bets do lose roughly 25% of the time.

Enter our stake and click 'place bets', as below:

We then compound our bankroll daily, by performing the above calculation using where our bankroll currently stands at the beginning of each day. This allows our profits to increase as our bankroll increases.

2% gain - This method is designed to be used when taking the current available price. It's also shown the greatest overall profit levels.

With this staking plan, we are aiming to increase our bankroll by 2% each bet. To find our stake, divide your bankroll by 50. Then, we take Betfair's 5% commission into account by dividing again by .95. For example with a £1000 bankroll:

Stake = £1000 / 50 / .95 = £21.05

Your stake may vary slightly depending on your level of Betfair commission (this starts at 5% and decreases the more you use the exchange). The lower your commission rate, the lower your stake has to be in order earn a 2% profit per bet.

As with the 6% stake plan, we compound our bankroll daily in order to maximize profits.

The Result

Intrigue did end up running a fair race, but not well enough to win, so our bet was successful. A fair portion of qualifying horses perform poorly, but even when they run well like in the example above, more often than not they still fail to win which keeps our strike rate nice and high.

Conclusion

With a strike rate of almost 75%, Lay the Favourite has an average of 3 winning bets in 4, so for the majority of betting days we do come out with a profit.

Although the advised staking methods are fairly aggressive, the fewer number of losing bets and shorter losing runs ensure our bankroll is fully protected from loss.

I've included the results history from mid 2012 - mid 2015, which is based on using the recommended 2% gain staking plan with daily compounding.

From the results, you can see that our bankroll becomes fairly large over time. Instead of continuing to grow your bankroll indefinitely, I'd recommend building your bankroll up to a suitable level, then starting to withdraw profits intermittently to use as a supplemental income, or for the things you enjoy most in life.

Thanks for taking the time to read this system guide - Lay the Favourite is another solid method of producing substantial earnings from betting over the long term, and I hope you find it useful.

All the best, Michael
